TERRITORIAL.

From our Exchanges.
In less than a month Tucson will be well supplied with water.
In Tombstone the gaming houses are so heavily taxed that eight of them shut up during last month.

Gen. Crook will go to the southern section of the Territory this week. His presence is needed there.

The damage to Globe City property by a recent cloud burst was considerable. Pinal creek swept portions of the plucky town.

Mail service in Arizona is far from being satisfactory. There appears to be neither head nor tail to the business in many sections of the territory.

Tom Fitch, of Arizona, delivered an interesting lecture lately at Dashaway Hall, San Francisco, to a very large audience. The subject of the lecture was "Invisible Forces."

The Mormons talk of establishing many more colonies this year in Arizona. Their eyes are on the Gila Bend country, which they expect to occupy in force, plant orchards, etc.

Conductor Wiedman, while attempting to get off the train near Bellemont on the Southern Pacific, caught his foot on the ladder, was thrown under the wheels and instantly killed.

The Pinal Consolidated quartz teams passed through here Sunday, en route to Casa Grande, with twenty-eight tons of ore in sacks. It will be shipped to the Melrose Reduction Works, Melrose, California.

The Silver Belt says that Judge P. P. Wilcox, Indian agent, took charge of the San Carlos agency yesterday. He will give no passes and will use his utmost endeavors to prevent Indians from annoying the whites.

There will be a large amount of fruit dried in this valley this season. Mr. John T. Bartleson's family, alone, will dry several hundred bushels. Two years from now a cannery at Florence would be a profitable enterprise.

The road agents who robbed the Black Canyon stage have been heard from in the Verde valley, making their way towards some of the railroad towns. There were three of them, well mounted and armed.

Mr. J. B. Remy is building a large wine cellar at his ranch above Florence, and will go into the manufacture of that delightful and healthful beverage extensively next year. He has made several hundred gallons of wine this season.

Saint Johns is one of the best points in Northern Arizona, for some party or parties to start a woolen manufactory. Here we have hundreds of thousands of pounds of the raw material, which at present, is shipped eastward, thereby benefiting middle-men more than it does our producers. Should an enterprise of this kind be inaugurated here, it would be the means of retaining in our country, thousands of dollars, that otherwise go into the pockets of freighters, middle-men and final purchasers. Will not some of our enterprising business men put their heads together, and make an initiative step in such a laudable enterprise?

A Sailor's Wife.

There have been heroines as well as heroes on the seas, and of these Mrs. Annie Wilson is one. When she was fourteen years of age she married the captain of a vessel, and for seven years accompanied him on his voyages around the world without accident.

But in 1872 the ship encountered a terrible storm off the banks of New Foundland. The captain was knocked down and his shoulder was broken. The first mate and several of the crew were also disabled, and the second mate was so frightened that he could not give any orders. The captain was carried down, lashed to a door, into the cabin; and when his wife saw him rendered helpless in this way, instead of yielding to lamentations, she only thought of what she could do to supply his place. She rushed on deck, and called the men around her.

"Boys, our lives are in danger," she said; but stick to me, and I'll take you into port all right."

She set them to work to clear away the wreck. They manned the pumps; and when the gale had subsided a little, they rigged up a jury-mast, under their new captain's orders, set sail again, and in twenty-one days the ship was safely anchored at St. Thomas.

After the necessary repairs had been made there, and as her husband was still quite helpless, the brave woman worked the ship to Liverpool, and made the voyage in thirty days. After this she settled down in New York, and for seven years supported her crippled husband and her child by working in a dry goods store.

When her husband died, Secretary Sherman appointed her to the post of Inspectress in New York Custom house.

Rough on Rats.

The thing desired found at last. Ask druggists for "Rough on Rats." It clears out rats, mice, roaches, flies, bed-bugs. 15 cent boxes.

An Englishman traveling in the East, not being quite satisfied with the appearance of the mare he rode, asked his Arab servant if he was sure she got her allowance.

"O, yes," he replied; "my countrymen often steal from one another, and rob their friends' horses; but I can always find out if your mare has been cheated. I put seven or eight pebbles in with the barley, counting the number exactly. The mare never eats pebbles; and if any one steals from the barley, he is sure to take two or three pebbles with it. If I find the pebbles short in the morning, I have hard words, and they cannot tell now I know, and so they give up cheating her."

A speaker at an American "convention," on being addressed by a gentleman as "Colonel," repudiated the military title, declaring he was not even a Captain.

"Don't you live in Missouri?" queried his new acquaintance. He owned that he did live in Missouri, and in a house with chimney.

"How many?" was the next question.

"Two." "Then I was right at first," exclaimed the interlocutor. "You see, I lived in Missouri, and know how it is. Over there, if a man has three chimneys on his house, he's a General; if two, he's a Colonel; if only one, he's a Major; and if he lives in a dug-out and has no chimney, he's a Captain anyhow, so I was right after all."

"Sit Down, Robert."

Elder Traverse was once the most noted man in Eastern New York as a camp-meeting leader. He had a powerful voice and was a fluent speaker, and when in the prime of life could get away with any man who ever sought to disturb his meetings. The elder was once holding a camp-meeting at Yonkers, and word reached him that a notorious rough, known as "Chicago Bob," intended to be on hand Sunday for a row. He made no reply and took no precaution, but when Bob appeared on the grounds, with a cigar in his mouth, and a slung-shot up his sleeve, the elder didn't pale worth a cent. Bob had come out there to run things, and he took a forward seat. When the crowd began to sing, he began crowing, and thus created confusion.

"Robert, you had better sit down," observed the elder, as he came forward.

"Chicago Bob sits down for no man!" was the reply.

"Sit down, Robert," continued the elder, as he put his hand on the loafer's arm.

"Here goes to clean out the crowd!" crowed Bob, as he pulled off his coat.

Next instant the elder hit him under the ear, and, as he fell over a bench, he was followed up and hit again and again, and while in a semi-unconscious state, he was carried off by his friends.

Next day he was the first to come forward for prayers. The elder put his hand on his head and said:

"Robert, are you in earnest?"

"I am."

"Are you really seeking faith?" "You bet I am! If faith helps a man to get in his work as quick as you did yesterday, I am bound to have it, if I have to sell my hat!"

He didn't get it very strong but he did no more crowing while the meeting lasted.

The True Tale of Tell.

William Tell ran a hay ranch near Bergelen, about 580 years ago. Tell had lived in the mountains all his life, and shot chamois and chipmonks with a cross-gun, till he was a bad man to stir up. At that time Switzerland was run principally by a lot of carpet-baggers from Austria, and Tell got down on them. It seems that Tell wanted the Government contract to furnish hay at $45 a ton for the year 1806, and Gessler, who was controlling the patronage of Switzerland, let the contract to an Austrian who had a big lot of condemned hay further up the gulch. One day Gessler put his plug hat on a telegraph pole and issued order 236, regular series, to the effect that every snoozer who passed down the toll road should bow to it. Gessler happened to be in behind the bush when Tell went by, and he noticed that Bill said "Shoot the hat," and didn't salute it. So he told his men to gather Mr. Tell in and put him in the refrigerator. Gessler told him that if he would shoot a crab apple from the head of his only son at 200 yards with a cross-gun, he would give him his liberty. Tell consented, and knocked the apple higher than Gilroy's kite. Old Gessler, however, noticed another arrow sticking in Tell's girdle, and asked him what kind of a flowery break that was. Tell told him that if he had killed the kid instead of bursting the apple, he intended to drill a hold in the stomach of Mr. Gessler. This made Gessler mad again, and he took Tell on a picnic up the river in irons. Tell jumped off when he got a good chance, and cut across a bend in the river, and when the picnic party came down he shot Gessler deadlier than a mackerel—Boomerang.
